MEMORANDUM FOR: Associate Deputy Director for Intelligence

STAT FROM :
Curator, Historical Intelligence Collection

VIA : Director of Security
Director of Central Reference
Chief, Document Services Group
Chief, Central Libraries Division

SUBJECT : Request for Permission to Speak Before the Society of the Cincinnati

1. Mr. Scott D. Breckinridge, Jr., Assistant Secretary General of the Society of the Cincinnati, has invited the undersigned to speak on intelligence in the American Revolution before the Delaware State Society of that organization on Saturday, 2 April 1977. I request your approval for this activity.

2. The Society of the Cincinnati was formed by officers of the Continental Army on May 10, 1783, with a society in each of the thirteen colonies. Present membership is hereditary, each member in the room of (filling the slot of) a founding member or one who would have been so eligible at the time. The topic, intelligence in the American Revolution, contains no classified information. The content of the talk will be based on my manuscript, "Minutemen of Intelligence," for which approval to submit to publishers was obtained in February 1976. The content of the Agency Bicentennial pamphlet was also drawn from that manuscript should summary reference be desired. I will appear as an open Agency employee, in addition to my other credentials, and if there is no objection will be identified as Curator of the Historical Intelligence Collection. [I was previously identified publicly as such in the officially-assigned radio interview with the Connecticut Radio Network, and have been identified as such in the DDI letter to the American Historical Association in connection with the paper I am to read at its December 1977 meeting.] I will make no reference to or discuss other Agency assignments or duties.
